

de MÁLAGA

Plan de Competitividad Turística

A natural corridor between The Vegas of Antequera and Granada, historically a route between the Guadalquivir region and the steppes and mountains area of Andalucía. The northeastern region of Málaga is located in a central position, in a crossroad of routes and cultures.

We can divide this territory into three very differentiated zones: the northern zone formed by the villages of Cuevas Bajas, Cuevas de San Marcos, Villanueva de Tapia and Villanueva de Algaidas; Archidona situated in the centre of the region; and Villanueva del Rosario and Villanueva del Trabuco, located in the southern zone where the landscape has great importance with a chain of mountains that cross the province of Málaga.

Villanueva de Tapia

Villanueva de Tapia is located in the northeast part of the province of Málaga. This village keeps its tradition in cattle farming and agriculture, where The Cattle Fair is celebrated in October. Also, traditionally known as 'El Entredicho', this village has an extensive cultural and folkloric heritage which includes the Chaparral dance and troubadours and poets. Visitor can take a quiet walk in the village with its white houses and pretty paths and enjoy the landscape with its soft hills and olive groves.
